SNG PR Wins Mobile Star Award

SALT LAKE CITY—DEC. 16, 2009—SNG PR (www.sng.com) today announced it received a Mobile Star Award from MobileVillage, a leader in advancing mobile and wireless technology for enterprises and professionals. The award winners for public relations excellence in the wireless and mobility industry were selected by the thousands of subscribers to MobileVillage's online newsletter.

"It is rewarding to receive this recognition for our approach to public relations and the success we have with clients in the wireless and mobility space," said Rod Anderson, managing partner of operations for SNG PR. "It is a tremendous validation of the revenue-generating opportunities we create for our clients along with the expertise and hard work of our seasoned and professional staff."

In its eighth year, the Mobile Star Awards recognize the top mobile products, success stories and visionaries in mobile and wireless technologies. SNG PR was recognized in the "Wireless/Mobile Public Relations Firm" category. SNG represents a number of clients covering a wide range of wireless and mobile technologies such as mobile devices, management software, VoIP, mobile applications, connectivity, unified communications and security.
